PPAAE JUDGES

Bec Denholm - also known by her artist name 'Binx', is a multidisciplinary, mixed media artist who has been practising in the Riverina and Northern Rivers areas for over 14 years. From digital art and large scale mural work to traditional canvas painting and textile design, her work is eclectic and ever expanding. Influenced by graphics, textures and textiles of days gone by - her art uses retro colour palettes, patterns, nature, still life studies and portraiture as visual vehicles, transporting the viewer to a better time and suspending them briefly in a world of imagination and quirky beauty. Themes of soul, nostalgia and the freedom of the human spirit are at the very heart of her creative practice.

PPAAE JUDGES

Janine Murphy is a long term advocate for the arts and its place in the Western Riverina. Janine studied art teaching at the University of Melbourne, teaches Yoga and works on her own art, exploring a renewed joy in painting. Janine says: "Both practices give me so much insight into the wonder of this life!" Throughout the Covid years Janine ran Collect Studio in Yenda, NSW and said at the time that it was, "a way to share my own art as well as a way of showcasing local talent." Janine believes in creating opportunities in various ways that connect artists with collectors.
